

After the dark, funnel-shaped clouds had taken their dread toll, this is the grim scene of destruction that was presented to the camera's eye at Northport, Ala. In this city—reported to be hardest hit by the cyclonic winds that swept five southern states—nearly 30 persons were killed, scores were injured, and some neighborhoods were leveled as if by a gigantic hand. Note the splintered ruins of the house in the right foreground, its furnishings scattered by the fierce twister. In the background are hundreds of bales of cotton, scattered from a demolished warehouse. Dispatches placed the number of dead at more than 700 in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and South Carolina. The NEA Service-Edmunds Service, which has been in operation since the formation of the U. S. G. A., flashed the news by telephone to New York, three rushed to Alabama.

SHANGHAI

It is officially estimated at Shanghai that the city has lost 820,000 people since the fighting started there. Thousands were killed, but the great majority fled, leaving homes, property and occupations. Pictures appearing in the newspapers showing scenes of the city reveal how little they have to go back to, and what little prospect there is that they will go back.

Normally Shanghai has a population of nearly two millions. Now its population is a little more than one million. This is not the result of "war," it is the result of something nearly enough that for all practical purposes it is a ghost city.

Residents of cities the world over may profitably consider what would happen to them and their cities should the scourge come their way. They may not also consider that city, not the fortress, is now the object of attack when hostilities are started. Shanghai is a warning to city-dwellers everywhere to do what they can to prevent war.

It is an equally significant warning that every country needs to be prepared for war. China has been adequately prepared. Shanghai would not be in this today. It probably would not have been attacked.

A COAL CONFERENCE IN ORDER

The provincial legislature is suggesting that the Dominion Government call a conference of federal, provincial, railway and mining representatives to study the framing of a national fuel policy that would result in wider markets in Canada for Alberta coal.

The fact is in this announcement that the $6.75 per ton special freight rate to Ontario has not produced the results that were expected of it. It undoubtedly put the Alberta producers in better position to battle for business there against their United States competitors, but it has not proved to be the stimulus to production of the much-wanted national fuel policy. Ontario still turns Ontario States anthracite in preference to Canadian coal.

It is quite possible that the proposed conference would fail to discover how to put Alberta coal within reach of Ontario consumers if it proves they would be willing to pay. But conditions surrounding the coal industry have changed in important particulars during the last few years, sufficiently to warrant a new study of the problem in the light of present day facts and factors.

The conference did nothing more, it would at least call attention afresh to the national advantage of making the country so far as possible self-dependent in the matter of fuel, and of supporting this important branch of Canadian industry. That in itself would be of worth while.

ONE WAY TO KILL RELIEF WORK

The legislature of British Columbia set up a committee to investigate the expenditure of money for relief work for that province, and why the expenditure and the both came to a sudden halt shortly after the road construction gangs had got going.

Among other interesting things the committee discovered that in October last there were 16,000 men employed on the road building program. But fewer than three thousand of these had been sent out by the employment bureau, the official channels through which unemployed men were to be engaged.

Asked how the other 13,000 got on the pay roll, the representative of the federal Government offered the suggestion that they had simply applied to the gang foreman and been taken on. That is the reason why the road building program in British Columbia was ended summarily by wire from Ottawa, and why, after all the elaborate and elaborate machinery that had been set up, nothing has been done toward the construction of the Kamloops-Jasper highway.

In agreeing to help British Columbia provide work for idle men it was not the idea of the Dominion that was failing. The failure was in the population of the province should forthwith chuck their jobs and trek to the relief work camps. It has been a failure in the population of the province should forthwith chuck their jobs and trek to the relief work camps. It has been a failure in the population of the province should forthwith chuck their jobs and trek to the relief work camps.

NO MORE GASOLINE TAX, BUT—

Occasionally somebody does succeed in dodging a tax. Premier Brownlee is authority that during the last year distillates of one kind or another have been sold in this province in considerable quantities as substitutes for gasoline. The Gasoline Tax Act naturally did not cover transactions of this kind, and the provincial treasury lost some projective revenue.

There have been allegations, too, that sometimes gasoline which was bought for a tractor or a stationary engine found its way into the tank of the family automobile, in which case the mileage of the car in relation to the cost of fuel went up in keeping with the amount of the rebate that is allowed on gasoline bought for industrial uses only.

In consequence of these and some other evasive developments the Gasoline Tax Act is being replaced by a Fuel Oil Tax Act. The broader term is evidently intended to cover anything in liquid form that can be used to operate internal combustion engines. The distillate of a tax-evader has thus apparently run its course.

The new act is replete with restrictions and regulations framed with a view to keeping the fuel oil dealer within the straight and narrow way, and there is an impressive blanket provision that anyone who evades the new tax will be liable to a fine of $1,000 and costs or six months in jail. It is one apparent weakness, and that is inherent, is the lack of anything to effectively prevent the highly volatile fuel oil from coming out of the barrel, or can into the tank of an automobile or a motorcycle, instead of the tank of a tractor or stationary engine.

Estimates for the fiscal year starting on Friday next, April 1, and ending on March 31, 1952, were ratified in their total in the legislature on Saturday afternoon. Discussion of the figures had taken place at intervals over the last three weeks.

In all a budget of expenditure of $33,033,574.04 was approved by the house. This is a considerable decrease on the figure for last year, which was $27,339,369.27.

On income accounts there is a total of $10,682,244.27, which will be set off against this is revenue expected to reach $16,952,244.27, thus leaving a surplus of $6,270,000.

On the Alberta government telephone income account there is a surplus of $1,000,000, which will be an anticipated revenue of $3,370,230 thus leaving an anticipated deficit of $2,370,230.

On capital account the payments are estimated at $2,725,177.82 as against

CAPITAL BORROWINGS

This will leave capital borrowings at $1,302,977.82 with an estimated $365,000 for the Alberta government telephones.

Summarizing the whole, there is a total expenditure of $70,443,394.32 chargeable to income account and $2,360,177.82 chargeable to capital to bring the total expenditure to $23,023,572.04.

When the resolutions dealing with passage of the totals for each department were presented to the house the opposition raised a number of reservations in some, registered verbal objections, as they had done as the various items were discussed in detail. The opposition's demand that the government loan be raised by the Deputy Speaker Milton C. McKeen, U.P.A., Lac Ste. Anne, put the question of the chair of the grand hall.

"Does it mean that the others' allowance vote?" challenged Hon. J. F.

FAIR BUYING GIVES MARKET BUOYANT TONE

Canadian Press
WINNIPEG, Man., March 28.—Fair buying by railroad buyers and an increased French foreign wheat quota brought about a rise in grain values here today. Prices at the close were 1/4 to 1/2 higher than Saturday's final quotations.

May wheat was 1/4 higher at 60 1/2, July gained a like amount at 62 1/2, while October climbed one to 1 1/4 to close at 64-4 1/2.

The general run of crop news was quite bullish. Unfavorable reports concerning the Russian crop stated that winter wheat had suffered and the outlook for spring wheat seedling was not reassuring.

Statistics for last week showed a crop of about 2,000,000 bushels in world shipments of wheat and wheat flour. North America, however, shipped about 2,600,000 bushels more than in the previous week. The Liverpool market remained on holiday today.

Wheat futures were firm. A demand for durum at a spread of 1/2 cents. Better than the previous close featured the cash wheat prices. There was little in current grain was of little account and values held firm.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The support level which had been popularly set up as representing the resistance point of the market in the narrow trading range which had continued for several weeks, seemed to have been definitely broken on Saturday. Volume increased substantially, both the rally and the subsequent decline were subjected to active pressure and under the circumstances there would seem to be no reason to doubt that the reaction of a "do nothing" policy in the buying side. Stocks had Allied Chemical and American Can, which had been relatively bright spots, but an otherwise inactive market, followed the down trend Saturday morning, showing strengthening the opinion that buying there had withdrawn attention from the market in the past few days. The market was not so much as to be concerned with domestic affairs, with uneasiness over the political situation, a factor which had been absent up to last week.
